

Thailand Nanotechnology & Carbon Neutral Symposium

JAIMA (Japan Analytical Instruments Manufacturers' Association) annually organizes symposiums in Bangkok, collaborating with government agencies, research institutes, universities, and companies from Thailand and Japan. Through these events, we have been working to find solutions to social challenges in fields such as food safety, cosmetics, environment, and energy by utilizing analytical and measurement technologies.

For the upcoming symposium in January 2026, JAIMA has chosen the theme "Nanotechnology and Carbon Neutrality." This event will provide an opportunity for related organizations and companies from Thailand and Japan to introduce research results, relevant technologies, and measures aimed at realizing a carbon-neutral society through advanced nanotechnology. By sharing experiences and expertise, we hope to create opportunities for collaborative problem-solving. We look forward to your participation.
